VOTE OF THE WEEK: ELECTRONIC ARTS

Electronic Arts (EA) received 55% vote support in 2014 after receiving 93% support in 2013. The decreased support is likely due to:

- Promotional $8.6MM stock option award granted to the CEO
- Adoption of a re-testing provision for annual PRSU grants
- Decrease in the proportion of future equity grants subject to performance-based vesting conditions, from 50% to 25%
- Targeting the 75th percentile of peers when determining the value of annual equity grants

	FY2013	FY2012	FY2011	FY2010
OUTCOME	55%	93%	59%	88%
CEO PAY ¹	$14.0MM	$15.8MM ²	$9.4MM ²	$5.9MM ²
1-YR TSR ³	63%	7%	-16%	5%
3-YR TSR	14%	-2%	-3%	-27%
REVENUE	$3.58B	$3.80B	$4.14B	$3.59B
MARKET VALUE	$9.02B	$5.35B	$5.28B	$6.50B

COMPANY INFORMATION AND PERFORMANCE

- Electronic Arts develops, markets, publishes and distributes game software content and services
- One-, three-, and five-year TSR as of fiscal year end 2013 were 63%, 14%, and 10%, respectively
- FY 2013 revenue decreased 6%; net income decreased 92% from $98MM to $8MM

CEO TURNOVER AND HISTORICAL CONTEXT

- In 2012, the Company received 59% vote support after receiving 88% in 2011; the reduced level of support in 2012 was likely due to Committee actions taken to increase CEO base salary and long-term incentive opportunity following a year of poor TSR performance
- In March 2013, CEO John Riccitiello resigned, and the Company appointed a new CEO, Andrew Wilson, in September 2013
- On October 31, the new CEO received a $8.6MM stock option award subject to time-based vesting over three years

PAY PROGRAM

- 2013 Annual Incentives: Executive bonuses are paid from a pool funded as a percentage of non-GAAP net income if performance is above a minimum threshold
 - For CEO, bonus allocation based on net revenue, gross profit, operating expenses and income, EPS, and strategic goals
 - For other NEOs, bonus allocation based on net revenue, EPS, and a qualitative assessment of performance in role
- 2013 Long-Term Incentives: Executives receive long-term equity in the form of RSUs (50%) and PRSUs (50%)
 - PRSUs vest based upon TSR performance relative to the NASDAQ-100 index measured over one, two, and three-year periods, and vesting is capped at 100% of target if absolute TSR is negative
 - FY 2013 awards contain a re-testing provision which allows for additional shares to be earned in subsequent measurement periods if the number of shares earned in the one- or two-year period is below target
 - Going forward, long-term incentive mix will be 50% RSUs, 25% PRSUs, and 25% stock options
- Targeted Pay Positioning: Company references the 50th to 75th percentiles when setting executive salary and target bonus opportunities and the 75th percentile when setting the value of annual equity awards

ISS PROPOSAL EXCERPT AND COMPANY RESPONSE

- “A vote AGAINST this proposal is warranted. A pay-for-performance misalignment has been identified for the period under review. The new CEO’s substantial equity award relating to his promotion lacked any performance conditions. The company has changed the design of its equity incentives to include a retesting feature, and has lowered the proportion of performance shares in the equity pay mix for next year, together which actions weaken the pay-for-performance linkage of the pay program. The large majority of CEO pay is not linked to objective performance criteria.”
- On July 10, 2014, the Company filed a DEFA14A responding to ISS’s concerns and emphasizing the performance-based nature of stock options
