

Semler Brossy Grows Partnership: Steve Charlebois Promoted to Managing Director

August 31, 2021—

Semler Brossy, a leading national executive compensation consulting firm, announced the promotion of Steve Charlebois to Managing Director.

Steve has over 15 years of executive compensation consulting experience gained through external consulting and in-house roles. He has particular expertise working with technology-related companies and businesses in transition (i.e., turnarounds, mergers and acquisitions, go-private, IPOs, and SPACs).

“Steve has advised companies on executive compensation as a consultant and practitioner for both private and public companies,” said Roger Brossy, Managing Director. “Most recently, he has helped many companies navigate through a spectrum of compensation and governance challenges associated with transactions.”

Before joining Semler Brossy, he worked with Mercer Consulting's human capital practice in Calgary, Canada, and Geneva, Switzerland.

“We’re lucky to have Steve supporting our clients with their of compensation programs and governance practices,” said John Borneman, Managing Director. “Steve’s deep technical and industry expertise, combined with his wide-ranging experience, is a huge benefit to his clients and our team.”
